Lenbrook America to Partner with Tivoli Audio as Exclusive U.S.A. Distributor of the World's Finest Radios and Music Systems in the CE Marketplace.

Lenbrook charged with building business for world renowned signature radios at U.S. consumer electronics dealers and installers

CEDIA EXPO, DENVER, Sept. 4, 2008 — Lenbrook America, a sales, marketing and distribution specialist for audio/video, custom installation and home integration products, has announced it has become the exclusive CE channel distributor in the United States of Tivoli Audio, a manufacturer of signature radios and music systems that sell through a worldwide network of specialized distribution organizations.

Tivoli Audio, based in Boston, Massachusetts, designs and manufactures a family of radios and music systems that offer music lovers a variety of design applications that fit their special tastes and lifestyles. Tivoli Audio created the category of table top radio and leads the market in design and innovation. Its reputation for style, performance, quality, and technical excellence is unmatched.

“We are pleased to add Tivoli Audio to our business portfolio that already contains the premium brands NAD Electronics, PSB Speakers, and QED Cables,” said Stacey Kerek, General Manager and Chief Operating Officer of Lenbrook America. “Our company has known Tivoli Audio founder Tom DeVesto for many years and has followed the success of Tivoli Audio with great interest. We sell products for music lovers and already deal with the right type of retailers and installers and now welcome the opportunity to grow the sales of Tivoli Audio within the consumer electronics retail network. We will work with the industry's top specialty sales representatives and dealers, a group that understands how the design and innovation of Tivoli Audio's products can broaden their opportunity in today's market."

Tom DeVesto, founder of Tivoli Audio, also sees strong opportunities in this new partnership created to build Tivoli Audio business within this important channel. "Our entire dedication has been to creating the world's finest and most innovative radios, and we intend to stay focused on this mission," said Mr. DeVesto. "Our product family continues to develop, and we are utilizing the full extent of our internal resources to build additional distribution throughout the world, and to develop channels such as the hospitality and premium incentive markets. By partnering with Lenbrook America, a company our management team has known for many years, we are assured of strong representation and support and a growing opportunity within the consumer electronics dealer network that they will focus on."

Tivoli Audio manufactures an extensive family of table top radios, as well as a variety of systems that allow consumers to pick a music system that fits their décor and lifestyle. Tivoli Audio recently made news with the announcement of the Tivoli Audio NetWorks™, a new system that establishes leadership in the world of networking both at home and over the Internet. This product will be part of the Lenbrook America portfolio of Tivoli Audio products and will be made available to selected dealers across the U.S.

The new Tivoli Audio program from Lenbrook America began September 1, 2008, and kicks off at CEDIA Expo in Denver, Sept. 4 to 6.
